As one of the most prominent faces in Donald Trump's failed efforts to overturn the results of the 2020 presidential election through the series of lawsuits collectively known as the "Kraken," attorney Lin Wood has been under the microscope for weeks, if not months, for troubling statements he's made on social media. Now, the

“The State Bar of Georgia told me today that they would demand a mental health exam from me if I wanted to keep my law license. My mind is sound. I have broken no rules. I asked what I had done wrong, I was only told it was about my social media comments. My speech,” the message said.

Wood had previously claimed that an attorney from the Georgia Bar had contacted his attorney to inquire if he would “submit to an independent health exam.”

“Are you kidding me?” he wrote. “If the State Bar of Georgia starts testing its members for mental health and alcoholism (I have not had a drink in over 8 years), 75% of the lawyers in Georgia will not be able to practice law. I will be one of the 25% still practicing.”

Law&Crime reached out to the State Bar of Georgia as well and received the same confirmation. The Bar said that the investigative process is normally confidential, but since Wood spoke about it publicly the Bar confirmed Wood is under investigation “pursuant to Bar Rule 4-104.”

(b) Upon a determination by the State Disciplinary Board that a lawyer may be impaired or incapacitated to practice law as a result of one of the conditions described in paragraph (a) above, the Board may, in its sole discretion, make a confidential referral of the matter to an appropriate medical or mental health professional for the purposes of evaluation and possible referral to treatment and/or peer support groups. The Board may, in its discretion, defer disciplinary findings and proceedings based upon the impairment or incapacity of a lawyer to afford the lawyer an opportunity to be evaluated and, if necessary, to begin recovery. In such situations the medical or mental health professional shall report to the State Disciplinary Board and the Office of the General Counsel concerning the lawyer's progress toward recovery. In addition to promulgating falsehoods about the 2020 election being stolen from former President Trump, Wood has made numerous other baseless claims about leading political and legal figures, such as Chief Justice John Roberts. In December of last year, Wood claimed without evidence that the chief justice had nefarious links to now-deceased infamous pedophile Jeffrey Epstein.

“My information from reliable source is that Roberts arranged an illegal adoption of two young children from Wales through Jeffrey Epstein,” Wood wrote on Twitter before his account was permanently suspended. “I think we can all agree that Epstein knows pedophilia. If only Jeffrey Epstein was still alive . . .Wouldn’t that be something?”

Te tweet led to immediate backlash, but Wood pushed the theory in a follow-up tweet.

“I am fully aware of the onslaught of attacks being made against me based on my revelations about Chief Justice John Roberts. Before attacking me, maybe fair-minded people would first ask Roberts to tell the truth.” he wrote, adding, “Or ask Jeffrey Epstein. He is alive.”

“Your law partner Lin Wood is not just good,” Wood can be heard referring to himself in the third person in one of the tapes. “Your law partner Lin Wood has courage and he has an inherent ability to know truth. Your partner Lin Wood is great. You should feel like shit, but I still love you. And I’m still your law partner.”

Law&Crime asked Wood on Friday if he plans to comply with the mental health evaluation, considering that the applicable rule states a “lawyer’s refusal to [...] participate in the evaluation or recommended treatment may be grounds for [...] emergency

Now, the embattled lawyer, no longer on Twitter, has claimed that the Georgia State Bar told him he must undergo a mental health exam if wants to keep his law license.

This country is really f*k'd up.

A lawyer can be subjected to take a mental health exam; but a President, Vice President, Senator, or Representative cannot be subjected to take a mental health exam in order to retain their office.

I think the bar is completely within it's rights to ask him for a mental health exam. This guy was claiming to be the reincarnation of Jesus. A sane person would have done it and kept his mouth social media mouth shut about it. Now if he keeps his license, everyone will know he caved. And if he loses his license, he loses his ability to lord the legal process over anyone. Lawyers jobs are to think things through. His social media is what brought him under investigation, and he went right back to it. I'll be very interested to hear this outcome. Knowing him he'll probably post everything.

Most people can't define "mental illness", but it's rational thinking for the most part. Not wanting to hurt others matters. But the diagnosis can be done by what we see and hear of a public figure, not by interviewing them (because people LIE!) He probably has a mental illness/disorder (like

The man had a perfect record as an honorable ethical attorney.

Then he speaks up in opposition of counterfeit ballots in Georgia & you detest his knowledge.

On day you will need a lawyer like him.
